Premium furniture.

A theme that didn't match.

Casa Eleganza sells $15,000 leather sectionals. Their Shopify store looked like a commodity shop. Filtering was basic, the 36-month financing offer was buried in the footer, and luxury items from the Giorgio Collection were showing "Call for price" with no way to capture the lead.

Room-matching cross-sells didn't exist — customers bought one sofa, not the set.

The brand. The inventory. The showrooms.
The store experience wasn't doing them justice.

Generic Shopify theme undercut the premium brand

The look and feel didn't reflect the quality or exclusivity of the products.

No advanced filtering

Customers couldn't easily filter by material, style, room, or availability to find what fit their space.

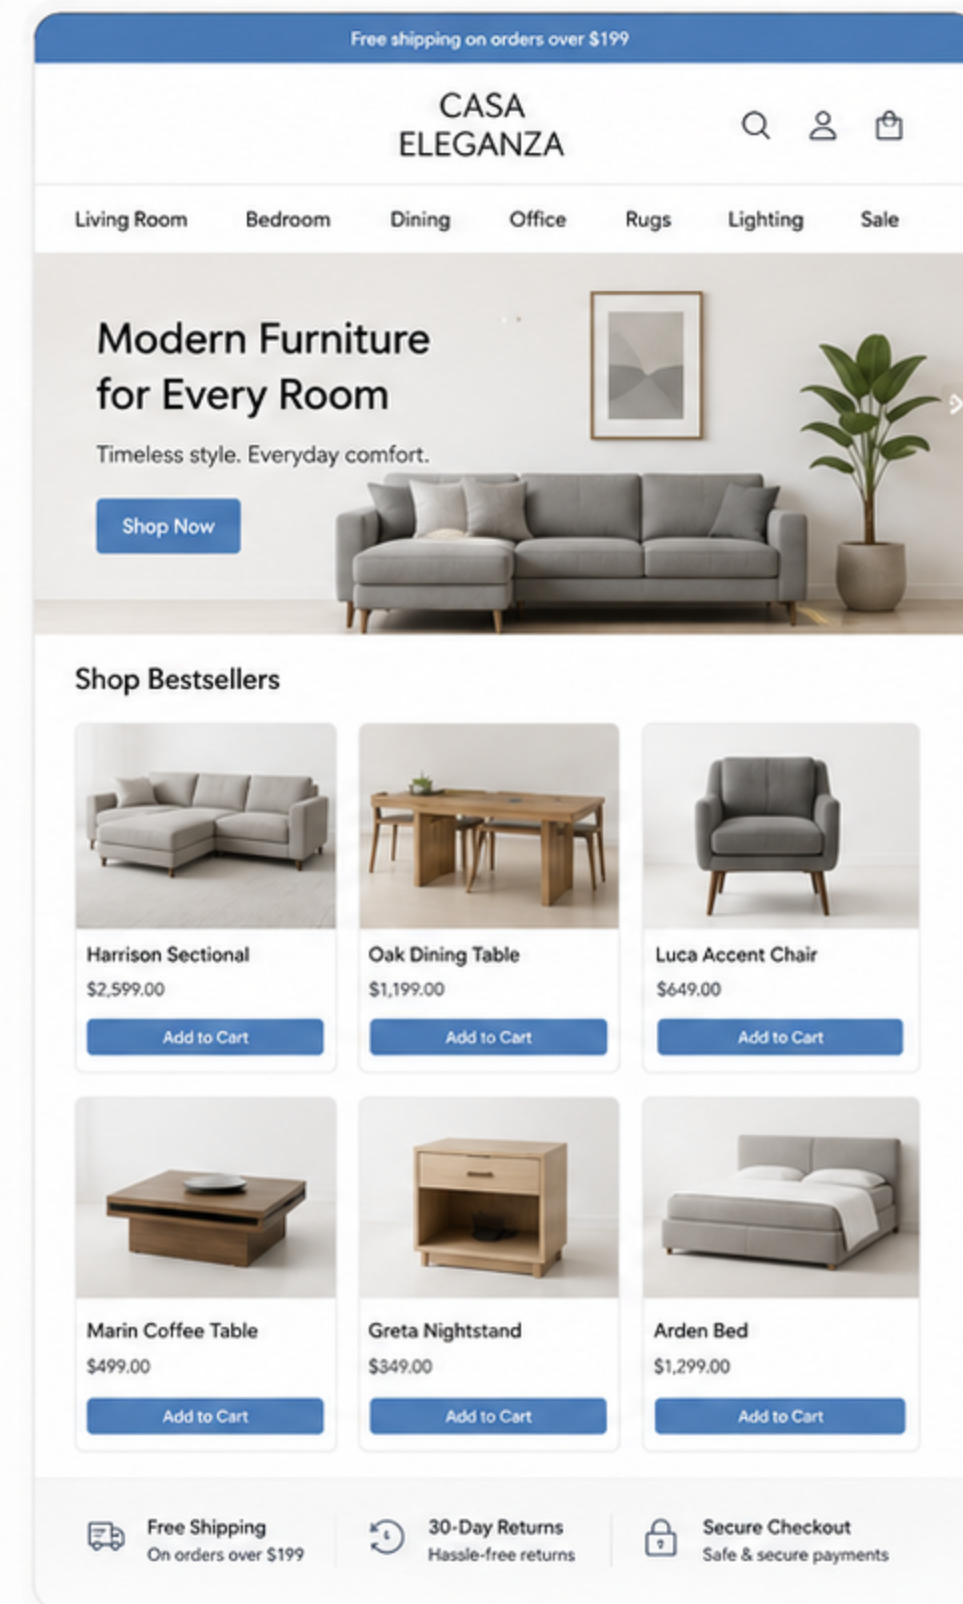

Financing widget absent from product pages

The 0% for 36 months offer was hidden in the footer, where most customers never looked.

"Call for price" items leaking potential leads

High-ticket items had no lead capture flow, so serious buyers had nowhere to inquire.

02 / SOLUTION

Three upgrades. One store that sells.

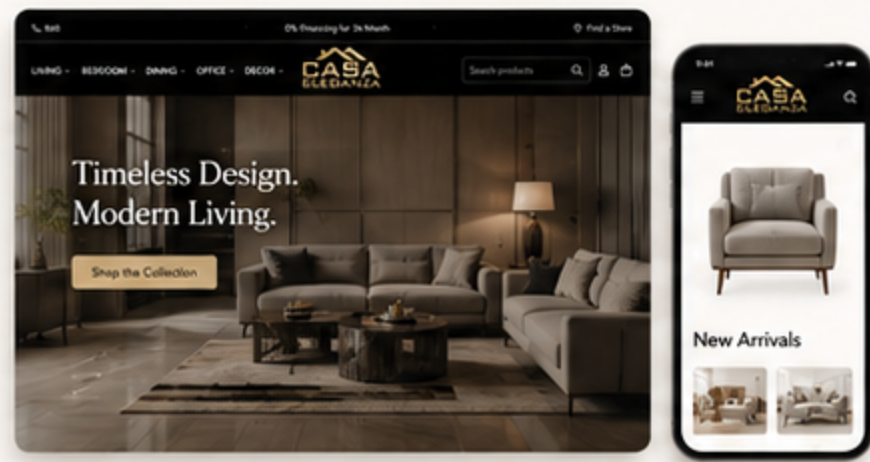

We rebuilt Casa Eleganza on Shopify 2.0 with a conversion-focused theme, smarter discovery, and financing that removes friction.
